

The Deciding Factor

What will make the difference between success and failure for you?

This is your personal deciding factor — the one element that will tip the balance if you focus on it consistently.

My deciding factor is:

Why is this the key to my success?
